

Sign up now!
There is no charge for participation.
Ages 9 to 15

October 2009 Play Writing Sessions begin October 11, 2009.

Register by October 4, 2009

April 2010 Play Writing Sessions begin April 11, 2010

Register by April 4, 2010

This opportunity focuses on student-centered explorations of story elements, word choice, fluency comprehension, story dramatization and character development. This is our newest program for young people with participants from Southgate to City of Monroe to Temperance. This is Players special niche for young people where they each write a one act play. A "Readers Theater" is part of the final event for this six week session promoting creativity and the literary arts. We support arts education to foster the next generation of both artists and arts enthusiasts.

June-July 2010 Acting and Summer One Act Festival begins June 20, 2010

Register by June 13, 2010

Including the Summer One Act Festival for young performers. We will be casting assorted one-act plays with several students in each. It will give everyone an opportunity to be a star. Performing in a play helps build vocabulary skills, improve reading comprehension and expand writing techniques through drama integration.

Additional information for parents:

Our steering committee consists of an enthusiastic team of actors and directors. The Imagination Team for this project is rounded out with additional members who will be working with the young performers.

Visit our website at www.monroecommunityplayers.org. Direct questions to 734-241-7900.

Check sessions of interest:

_____ October 2009 Play Writing _____ April 2010 Play Writing _____ June-July 2010 Acting

Name: _____ Age: _____

Address: _____ City/State/Zip _____

Telephone: _____ Cell: _____

E-mail: _____

Parent or Guardian Name and Telephone: _____

Are there any dates when youth will be unable to participate in sessions?

Most sessions will be on Sunday. Some other select days to be determined later.